Introduction

Genetic evaluation is an objective, statistical assessment of the genetic merit of horses. The results are published as Estimated Breeding Values (EBVs) which are predictions of the genetic advantage that a horse will pass on to its offspring for a particular trait. Currently, the Irish Horse Board publishes EBVs for high level showjumping ability based on rankings in national SJAI competitions and for athleticism, temperament, movement and eight conformation attributes based on the results of IHB stallion and mare inspections. Athleticism EBVs can be regarded as a predictor of a horse's EBV for showjumping ability. Overall merit EBVs are based on a horse's total score at inspection and take into account the horse's athleticism, temperament, movement and conformation.

EBVs are calculated using information from a horse's own performance and from all of its relatives, including parents and progeny. EBVs are published for approved stallions that are available and standing in Ireland, where sufficiently reliable information is available on the horse itself or on its descendants. EBVs for other horses are available to owners, on request, from the Irish Horse Board.

EBVs are expressed as an index with an average value of 100 and a standard deviation of 20. The value of 100 reflects the average genetic merit of active breeding mares and stallions in Ireland. A horse's EBV measures the difference between its genetic ability and the average of the population. For example, horses with EBVs of over 140 are in the top 1% of the population for that trait.

As EBVs for different horses are based on different types and amounts of information, EBVs are published with an accuracy figure. The accuracy of an EBV can range from 0 to 1. More information on a horse results in a higher accuracy. EBVs with an accuracy of 0.7 or greater have a good level of reliability. For example, all stallions with showjumping EBVs with an accuracy greater than 0.8 have a number of progeny included in the genetic evaluation. In general, there is less information available on foreign and Thoroughbred stallions as very few have parents who have been genetically evaluated in Ireland. This leads to lower accuracies for these horses. Accuracy figures are given for EBVs for showjumping and overall merit. The accuracy of showjumping EBVs reflects the competition information available on a stallion and the accuracy of overall merit EBVs reflects the inspection information available on a stallion.

In some cases, sufficient, reliable information is not available on a particular stallion for an attribute, e.g. a young stallion may have no progeny competing or an older stallion may have no inspection scores if approved prior to 1995. This is denoted as n/a (not available) in the results section.

Why refer to Estimated Breeding Values when choosing a stallion?

Showjumping EBVs predict the showjumping ability of a stallion's offspring. For Irish Sport Horse stallions with showjumping EBVs greater than 120, 70% of their offspring who compete in showjumping competitions will reach the level of 1m30 competitions or above. However, this rate falls to only 15% for Irish Sport Horse stallions with showjumping EBVs less than 100.

Foals by stallions with EBVs for showjumping ability above 120 achieve, on average, €1,100 more at auction than foals by stallions with EBVs for showjumping ability below 100. Foals by stallions with high EBVs are also more likely to sell at auction. Foals out of high EBV mares achieve, on average, €2,201 more than foals out of low EBV mares.

Every effort has been made to ensure that all the data contained in this publication have been accurately collated. However, since the information has been collated from a number of sources, it may be incomplete in some instances. The Irish Horse Board would welcome written statements which would enhance the data.

The Irish Horse Board shall not be responsible for any inaccuracies herein.

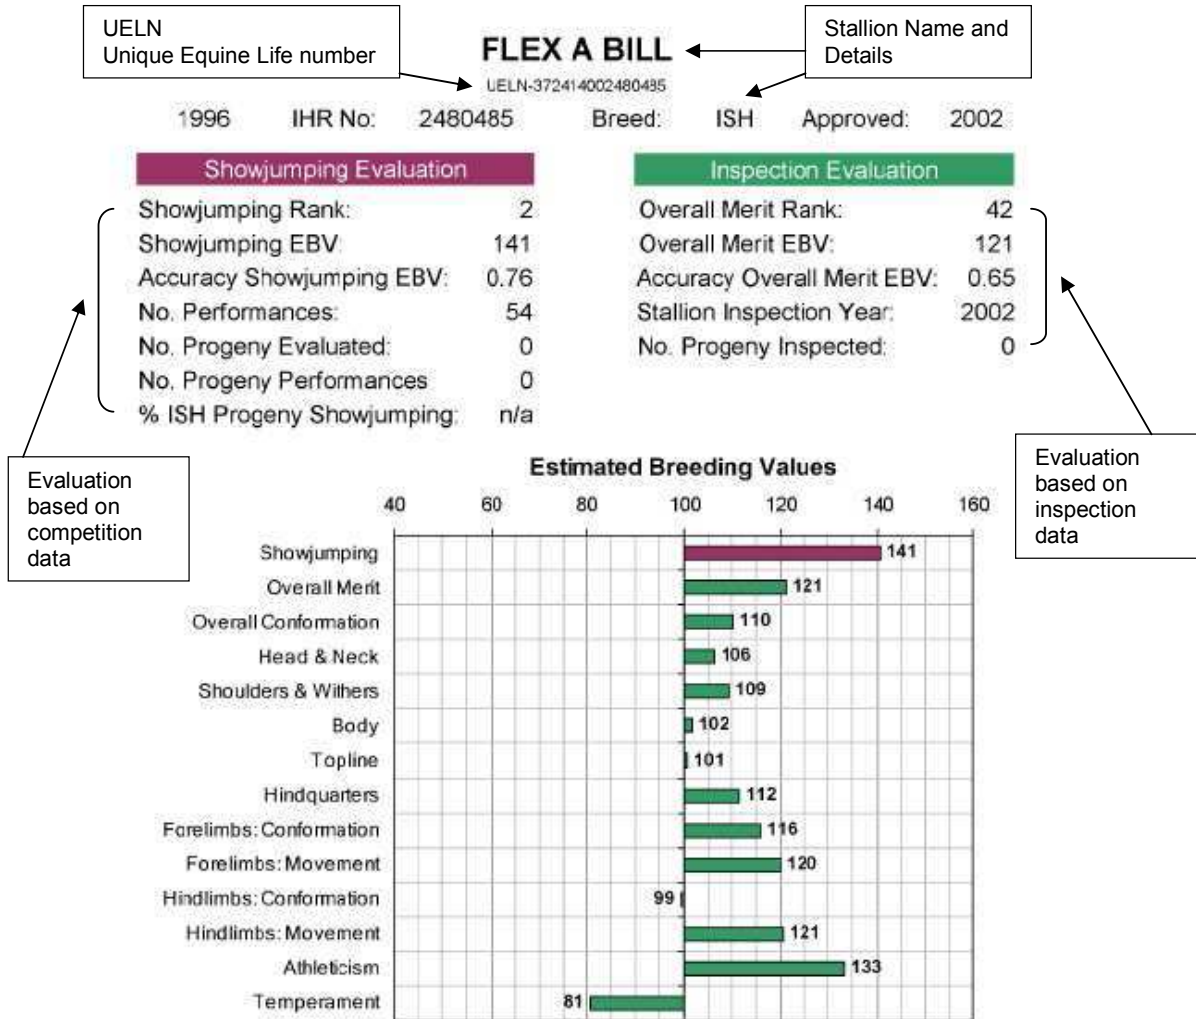

The Irish Horse Board shall not be responsible for documenting the performance of horses which are not registered in the Irish Horse Register.

The Irish Horse Board wishes to acknowledge the co-operation of the Showjumping Association of Ireland.
